

Police visit FCAL for National Police Week

Written by Betsy Blevins

Thursday, 02 June 2011 09:55 -

May 26, 2011 - Teaching kids about public safety brought closure to National Police Week in Leonard this past Friday. Lt. Jeff Stapleton from the Royce City Police Department and deputies from the Fannin County Sheriff's Office volunteered their time to allow the students at First Christian of Leonard to ask all the questions they could think of. The highlight of the morning for the younger students was climbing through the patrol cars and seeing the lights and hearing the sirens.

Pictured above right is Lt. Stapleton and two Fannin County Sheriff's Deputies as they display a patrol car - complete with lights and sirens - to the students at First Christian Academy of Leonard. - Photo courtesy of Terence Burnside